you got this job in the normal way:

through an agency.

or, rather: through an agency who gave your essentials to another agency.

who matched you to a vacancy they thought you were uniquely suited to fill.

it's not such bad work.

but you are bored, though.

you wanna ask someone if you're allowed to listen to music but you can't see anyone with headphones on, & besides, who would you ask?

& you'd best get your bearings first before you go around asking people things.

 Permanent The Use of rumble areas To alert drivers / by R.K. Sumner and J. Impacts of European

just before you finish
 your whole pile, you
 hear a low rumble.

someone tips a new stack
 onto your desk.
 someone else takes away
 your done pile.
 you admire
 the synchronicity.

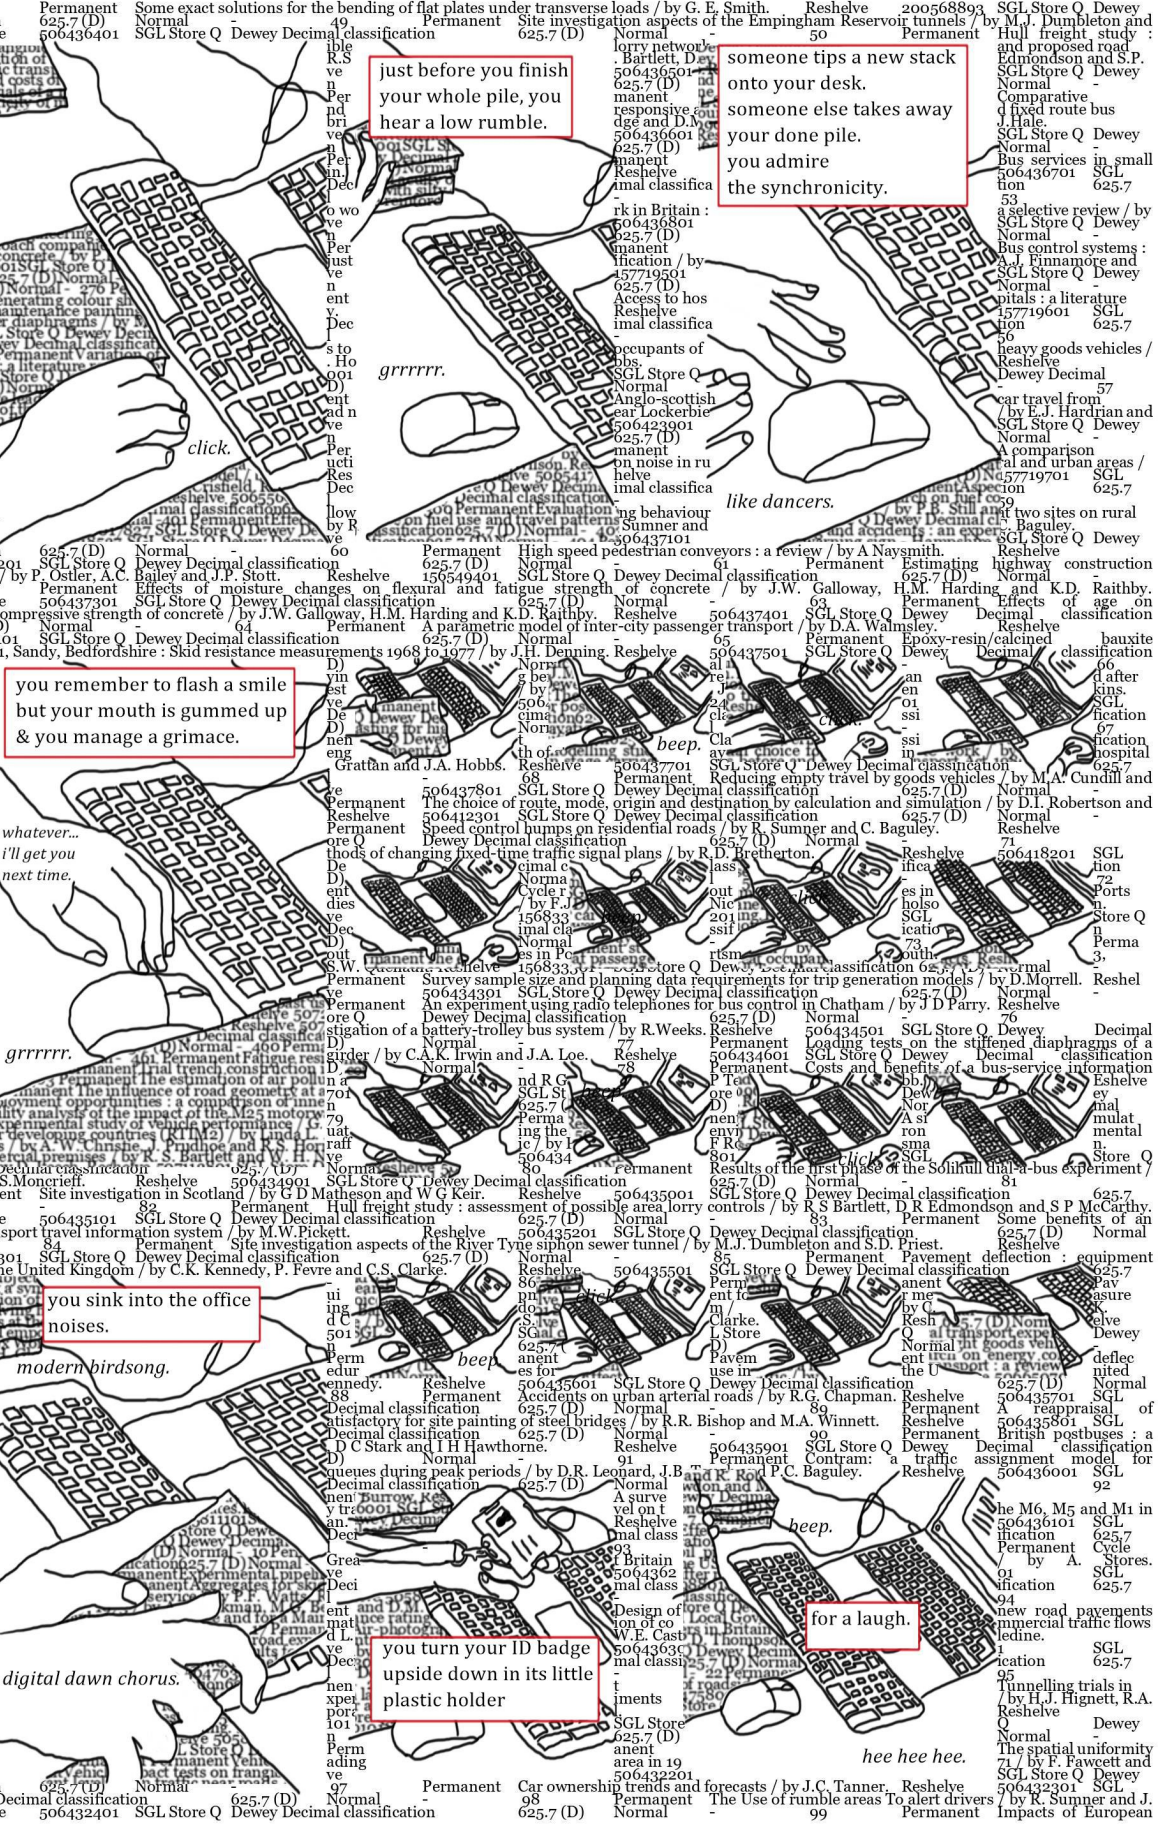

you remember to flash a smile
 but your mouth is gummed up & you manage a grimace.

you sink into the office
 noises.

you turn your ID badge
 upside down in its little plastic holder

for a laugh.

you notice something.

didn't you go school with ?

you know , too.

& once you break the seal of noticing,

you can't stop.

that's weird.

hey,

where'd you all go?

k ch k ch k ch.

hello?

is it lunchtime?

k ch k ch k ch.

k ch k ch k ch.

k ch k ch k ch.

vvvvvvvvrrrr.

k ch k ch k ch k ch.

huh.

click.

whatever.

beep.
